(By The Associated Press) Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr. shot sparks into the Republican primary campaign last night by charging Frank D. McKay is attempting to return to power in the G.O.P.

Alger, one of the organizers of the anti-boss Wayne county precinct organization, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. McKay was unseated as G.O.P. national committeeman nearly 10 years ago in an "anti-boss" drive.

Vandenberg Is Stooze

Alger charged in a speech at Fenton that McKay is backing Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg for governor, and that "through McKay's conniving," former State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard was induced to drop plans for a senatorial campaign and run for governor.

McKay hopes, Alger said, that Leonard will draw votes away from him in Wayne county and permit Vandenberg to be nominated.

This, Alger said, would mean a Democratic victory in November because many Republicans would desert the party.

Complimenting Leonard as a top police official, Alger said "it is not within my province to advise Don Leonard. But I do express the hope that he employ his recognized talents as a police officer to learn the truth about how he started out as a candidate for senator and wound up running for governor."

Taft Holds Lead In GOP Tussle

(By The Associated Press) The sound and fury of the Taft-Eisenhower duel for Republican Presidential-nominating votes were echoing today (Thursday) in places like Alabama, South Dakota and Washington, D. C.

With Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio just about through campaigning and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower expected home in a few days, the Associated Press tabulation of pre-convention delegate strength now shows:

Taft 405, Eisenhower 385.
Nomination at the July 7 national convention in Chicago requires 604 delegate votes. The Associated Press tally is based on concessions, pledges, instructions and avowed preferences.

Taft—who said some time ago he has just about wound up his drive for nominating delegate votes before convention time—was assured today of a majority of Alabama's 14 delegates.

Taft backers claimed 10 votes as the Alabama GOP convention met in Birmingham to complete the delegation by picking four at-large members. Eisenhower people concede Taft a majority—meaning Taft's name would be placed first in nomination since Alabama heads the alphabetical roll call.

An Associated Press survey showed today that South Dakota's daily newspaper editors look for a Taft-Eisenhower photo finish in the state's June 3 primary.

The editors' estimates, weighted according to population of areas covered, give Taft a slight edge: 51.2 per cent to Eisenhower's 48.8.

Troops With Bayonets Break Up Koje Revolt

KOJE ISLAND, Korea—(AP)—Bayonet-wielding U. S. and British troops, using tear gas bombs, today broke up a Communist demonstration in a compound for defiant North Korean officer prisoners of war and tore down the prisoners' ramshackle command post and dispensary.

There were no casualties on either side.

The Reds began parading this afternoon in the compound where 2,700 officers and 650 enlisted orderlies are held.

At least 100 U. S. and British infantrymen entered the enclosure shortly after on orders of Col. Henry Taylor, Washington, D. C., deputy commander of the United Nations Koje Island prison camp.

They broke up the demonstration with tear gas bombs and drove the Reds into the center of the compound. Then they systematically ripped apart the two metal shacks serving as the POW's command post and dispensary.

The Reds apparently staged the disturbance in an attempt to force Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, camp commander, to visit the compound and confer with them, a camp spokesman said.

The spokesman added that Boatner received "a long, abusive, insulting, demanding letter" from the compound leader two days ago.

The general never answered it because the letter violated Boatner's rules that messages to him from POWs must be "brief, courteous and to the point."

Boatner also refused to go to the compound gate during the disturbance, but, from a distance, he watched his U. N. soldiers break it up. Then he returned to his quarters to prepare a statement on the incident.

The parade started about 1 p. m. (11 p. m. Wednesday EST) and the troops went in shortly after. They cautiously backed out at 5 p. m.

Prisoners chanted incessantly. Intermittently they shouted Red slogans, such as "this is a baptism for World War Three" as the troops moved out, the POWs cried: "Banzai! Banzai! Banzai!" (Live 10,000 years).

7. Called on Christians to take a greater part in political life.

8. Condemned gambling, even for charitable purposes.

DETROIT—(AP)—Defense contract "fixer" Wayne R. Campbell will be going to prison without having convinced the judge he was alone in a fraud conspiracy.

Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schemanske sentenced the 41-year-old Campbell to three to ten years yesterday for defrauding an auto company. On a second count he was given a three-to-five year concurrent term.

But Judge Schemanske refused to accept Campbell's explanation that he alone was responsible for a total alleged embezzlement of $139,000 and that he had lost it all gambling on the races.

The court accused Campbell, a $70-a-week auto parts salesman, of "shielding confederates."

"Your conviction leaves many unanswered questions. Your crime could not have been committed without the assistance of others," Judge Schemanske said.

The case grew out of last year's scandals at the government's tank-automotive center here.

He said the engineers did not determine the justification of lake level regulation by diversion.

Top Men Hand In Resignations To McGranery

By KARL BAUMAN
WASHINGTON—(AP)—All the top men in the justice department have handed in their resignations, but that doesn't necessarily mean they will be leaving soon.

James P. McGranery, who took office as attorney general Tuesday, called for the resignations, it was learned today.

Most, but not all, attorneys general in the past have taken the same course. The idea is to give the new boss a free hand in making whatever changes he might desire.

All Kept Handy

The updated resignations were sent to McGranery, but were addressed to President Truman. McGranery will keep them handy for transmittal to the White House if and when he decides on changes.

All those asked to hand in resignations are presidential appointees—mostly assistant attorneys general who head divisions.

Department officials said McGranery presumably followed the usual course and sent his own resignation to Truman's desk. That was how Truman fired his last Attorney General, J. Howard McGrath. He simply got McGrath's resignation out of the files and announced it was accepted.

Chief Fired In Scandal

In addition to McGranery and solicitor general Philip B. Perlman, second-ranking official in the department, presidential appointees include these division chiefs, all with the rank of assistant attorney general:

H. Graham Morison, anti-trust; William Amory Underhill, lands; Holmes Aldridge, claims; James M. McInerney, criminal division; and Harold I. Baynton, alien property.

Also Joseph C. Duggan, a top-ranking assistant attorney general who does not head a division.

One of the first appointments under the McGranery regime will be a new chief of the tax division. That division has been headed by an acting chief since the president fired T. Lamar Caudle last November during an investigation of internal revenue bureau scandals.

Red Guns Stop Raid In Korea

SEOUL, Korea — Communist big guns turned back an Allied raid with their mightiest barrage of the year Wednesday. It was the same day Red truce negotiators threatened to renew heavy fighting in Korea.

The Communists poured 7,126 rounds of fire on U. N. positions in the 24 hours ended at 6 p. m. Wednesday. That's five times the Reds' normal volume in the present limited action phase of the war.

Half the shells broke up an Allied raid on a three-hill enemy position near Korangpo on the Western front. Heavy Communist mortar and artillery barrages also pounded two sectors east of the once heavily-contested Punchbowl on the Eastern front.

Intensity of the Red fire didn't match Allied peaks of up to 20,000 rounds in a single day.

The Red artillery barrage came as North Korean Gen. Nam Il, the Reds' top truce negotiator, told the Allies at Panmunjom the Communists "shall not sit idle" during what he called slaughter of their captured soldiers.

Women Who Doll Up A'raid Of Losing Husbands, Says Pastor

LONDON—(AP)—American women doll up so much—take it from an English clergyman—because they're worried all the time about losing their husbands.

That, Canon Hugh C. Warner told the royal commission on marriage and divorce yesterday is one bad effect of easy divorce laws.

"As far as my information goes about America, one quite clear result has happened—it has caused a grave and constant worry all the time that the marriage will suddenly break up," Warner reported, adding, "The modern American wife tends to feel she must wake up early in the morning to get her paint and powder on before her husband wakes. Otherwise she feels she may not have him by the evening."

Russians Expected To Spurn Plan For Armed Force Cuts

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—Russia today was expected to give a quick rejection to the West's new plan for ceilings on military forces.

Quarters usually familiar with Soviet views said the Russians undoubtedly would stick to their own demands for a flat one-third cut in the armed forces of the five big powers.

The new Western proposal, laid before the U. N. disarmament commission yesterday, calls for ceilings of one and one-half million men each for the United States, Russia and China, and 800,000 each for Britain and France.

Reply Due Tuesday

Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik will make known Russia's position next Tuesday. Meanwhile, he asked the West two important questions which were left unanswered in the working paper.

When you speak of China, Malik asked, are you talking about the people's Republic of China (The Communists)? It was generally accepted that the Western proposal referred to the Peiping regime, but Malik wanted to pin it down formally.

He also asked would the decisions on the reductions in armed forces be taken simultaneously with decisions on the prohibition of atomic weapons and other weapons of mass destruction?

On this point, the Working Paper merely says that the reduction of arms should be closely related to atomic control and other phases of arms regulation. The Russians have insisted on immediate decisions on the prohibition of atomic weapons and slashes in armed forces.

Merely Propaganda

Diplomatic circles generally regarded the Western proposal as another step in the propaganda battle that has been waged on the disarmament issue for five years.

Western sources said they were concerned over the warm reception some Europeans were giving to Russia's demands for a one-third-reduction in armed forces and were trying to offset the Soviet propaganda.

At any rate, the Western Powers have made it clear they do not expect any immediate arms cuts. In the words of the U. S. delegate, Benjamin Cohen, "the proposed reductions in armed forces depends upon the settlement of the Korean conflict and some progress towards the establishment of peaceful conditions throughout the world."

South China Balks At Communist Rule

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG — (AP)—Widespread sabotage, arson and other resistance to the Communist fourth field army's rule in four provinces of South-Central China was reported by a Communist newspaper received here today.

The Hankow Chang Chiang paper called for a speedup in the Red political indoctrination offensive against the "enemy" and gave the following report:

Honan Province: 347 bandits arrested and more than 70 rifles and one machinegun seized in the western part of the province. In Nangang county, 26 murder and arson cases in the last three months.

Hunan Province: Nearly 400 landowner families in Li-liang county have refused to carry out the Communist "labor reform"

Police Jail 900 Top Communist Revolt Leaders

PARIS — (AP)—French police broadened their crackdown on demonstrating Communists today in the wake of the arrest of France's top Red and 900 or more of his cohorts after brief but bloody rioting against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Branding the demonstrations against the new NATO commander a false front for a Red revolutionary plot against the French state, authorities seized many of today's editions of Communist newspapers throughout France.

No. 1 Man Nabbed

Paris police held more than 700 demonstrators including Jacques Duclos, party secretary general and France's No. 1 Communist. They nabbed him in an automobile at the peak of last night's riots and said they found in the car a pistol, a blackjack, two carrier pigeons and a radio geared for intercepting police radio signals.

Other Red outbreaks were reported in Marseille, where 150 were picked up; in Bordeaux, on the Atlantic coast, and in the Mediterranean resort of Nice, where 30 demonstrators were jailed.

In the Paris riots one demonstrator was killed, 17 others badly hurt and some 200 police were injured. The toll of Nice was three police and 22 civilians injured.

Conspiracy Organized

As the cabinet met to discuss security measures, sources close to the interior ministry indicated Duclos, a member of the French parliament, would be charged with an attempt against the internal security of the state. Interior minister Charles Brune said last night the government had proof

Park Roadways Being Improved

Relocation and improvement of main roadways in Ludington Park has been started by the city's public works department with the construction of concrete curbing, Loren Jenkins, city engineer, said today.

The relocations will follow recommendations of the City Planning Commission. Construction of one entrance roadway to swimming beach on the outer shore of the park will replace the present "Y" approach.

Some fill work will be required in the vicinity of the old bath house site on the west side of the yacht harbor, and in the south part of the park near the ball diamond, before the road work can be completed.

Because of the high water a section of old roadway near the ball diamond is now impassable and the south entrance to Ludington Park will be closed.

A small craft "L" dock in the yacht basin, damaged by shoving ice last winter and now nearly under water, will not be reconstructed this summer according to present plans, Jenkins said.

In other work the city will start the paving about June 15 of four blocks of alleys bordering Ludington street. The paving plans include alleys north and south of Ludington from 11th to 12th Streets, and on the south side of Ludington between Fifth and Sixth Streets.

Convicts Who Kill Hostages Deserve Capital Punishment

THOSE who oppose capital punishment in principle—and this newspaper has consistently been among those who share this viewpoint—must concede that the capital punishment bill now before the Michigan Legislature is the only adequate solution to the problem of murderous convicts who grab prison guards as hostages in their escape efforts.

Special and more severe treatment must necessarily be accorded to convicts than the penalties provided for others who violate the laws of the state. A convict with a life prison sentence, for instance, will not hesitate to kill a guard and any other person in an escape plan, knowing that the penalty for his action cannot be any more severe than the life sentence he is already serving. Knowledge of this condition makes the criminal prisoner more vicious and more brutal, completely disdaining the life of another person.

Recently an escaped convict killed a woman in Michigan on a foray while he was on the loose. Under existing law there is nothing that can be done to this convict except return him to prison for a longer sentence.

The capital punishment bill, of course, cannot be the whole solution to the prison revolt problem. The overcrowding in prisons should be eliminated. Homosexuals and psychopathic convicts should be segregated. Convicts who act and behave normally should be treated as human beings, not animals.

We do not believe the capital punishment bill, if enacted by the Legislature, will guarantee that rioting convicts will not murder their hostages but it may act as a deterrent. And, in any case, if they do commit such villainous acts in prison or as escapees from prison, the law will permit their execution and disposition of an extremely vexing prison problem.

Some Difference In U. S. And U. S. S. R.

THIS newspaper recently carried an article by William L. Ryan of the Associated Press which dealt with conditions in Moscow. It was based on information gained from a man who had recently left the Soviet capital. According to him, the Kremlin makes a point of raising living standards a trifle each year. Even so they are far below the level of the United States and many other nations. A constant barrage of propaganda is employed to convince the Russian masses that "nobody else in the world ever had it so good."

Mr. Ryan dealt briefly with the situation in Russian retail stores. One leading department store, he wrote, "opens at about 11 a. m. At 9 a. m. there is already a queue running far back from the entrance. The store is invariably crowded, as are the food stores. There are some attractive displays in the windows, but usually the purchaser fails to find these items on the shelves."

Contrast this with the average American store—whether it be large or small, a chain or an independent. Long waiting lines are unknown, except in the case of some terrific bargain sale. There is plenty of goods for all who want to buy—and a very wide selection of styles, colors, qualities and so on. There are no phony window dressings—whatever is displayed there is on sale inside. If the consumer doesn't like one store, he is free to go to a competitor's shop. He could not do that in Russia, where everything is a state monopoly.

Next time you shop, whether for such daily necessities as food or for a season's wardrobe, think of the vast differences between freedom and communism. It should make you mighty glad you live here—not in the "workers' paradise" the Kremlin bosses.

Harriman Makes Feeble Thunder

W. AVERELL HARRIMAN, Mutual Security Administrator is trying hard to sound like a hard-bitten old political campaigner. The other day he reiterated that he is an all-out candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and added for good measure that he felt he could lick either Senator Taft or General Eisenhower.

Harriman is an able fellow and a high type of public servant. But the spectacle of this normally quiet-spoken man attempting to thunder like a Claghorn is hardly convincing.

It suggests he stopped off at the magic store on the way and bought himself a ready-made lion's roar. And the effect is something less than ferocious.

A vicious circle—the more powder some wives use, the more husbands blow up.

Part of an old Kentucky jail is being used temporarily as a school. The kids should get a laugh out of that.

Any girl can make a name for herself, says a college professor. All she needs is a boy friend with a wedding ring.

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—When the White House decided about 18 months ago to proceed with production of the hydrogen bomb, it was considered a highly speculative project. Scientists thought they knew how to make it but weren't sure. They couldn't guarantee success.

Today, however, it can be revealed that progress is at the point where success is assured. The scientists now know that the H-bomb can be exploded.

But they are not entirely sure of one other phase of the operation—namely, what will happen after the explosion.

What worries them is the bare possibility that the bomb might misfire. If so, scientists say it would send a ring of fire around the world causing the earth's atmosphere to glow brighter than the sun, and the earth's surface to melt into glass.

The scientists are confident this won't happen, but they also say they never can be exactly sure of the H-bomb's effect.

However, what equally worries them is the reported rapid progress of the Russians on various types of atomic weapons. That's the reason why President Truman is preparing an extra budget of about five billions for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Note—The first H-bomb will be exploded at Eniwetok this summer.

TWO TEXANS

A lot of senators would give their eyeteeth to know how the Supreme Court is going to rule on the government's seizure of the steel companies. But there is only one among them who has gall enough to ask—Sen. Long Tom Connally of Texas.

It's usual social custom at Washington dinner parties never to mention a Supreme Court case in front of a justice. However, the venerable Texan, who has been in Congress for more than a quarter of a century, once approached his fellow Texan, Justice Tom Clark, at a dinner party when the court was considering a racial question in Texas universities.

"Tom," asked the senator, "what's the court going to do about letting niggers into our colleges?"

Justice Clark seemed embarrassed and evasive.

"Are you fellows going to open up our universities to the niggers?" pursued the senior senator from Texas. "You know who it was who put you in the justice department. It was me. And I don't want you to go round puttin' on airs and forgettin' folks."

Note—The Supreme Court later ruled against Connally's views on the race issue.

TWO GENTLEMEN FROM DENVER

If the two gentlemen from Denver in the President's cabinet could put their heads together instead of pulling apart, they might work out a new newsprint supply for the United States which would save marginal papers from going out of business.

The two cabinet members are Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman and Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan, both from Denver. Chapman is in charge of Alaska and the Indian Bureau, while Brannan is in charge of the Forest Service.

In order to develop newsprint it's necessary to get the cooperation of Alaskan officials, plus the Indians on whose reservations is considerable timber, plus the Forest Service. Chapman has had several conferences with publishers with a view to developing Alaskan newsprint, but each time runs up against opposition from Secretary Brannan's Forest Service.

Meanwhile Canadian newsprint suppliers have hiked the price so high that small or marginal newspapers are in serious danger.

While the Truman administration knocks the newspapers, what it doesn't seem to realize is that the only way to continue diversified press opinion is to continue newspaper competition. And with newsprint exorbitantly high, newspapers must either merge or go out of business.

STRANGE CHAMPION

A lot of people have been wondering why GOP Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho, sometimes called the Senate's "Junior McCarthy," suddenly turned up as the great champion of new Attorney General Jim McGranery during his Senate confirmation fight. . . . Also GOP Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, who usually votes with the Republicans against administration policies, strangely supported McGranery's confirmation. . . . Bridges, of course, has been under scrutiny in connection with mystery-man Henry Grunewald plus the tax-fixing of Baltimore liquor-dealer Hyman Klein. . . . Both Bridges and Welker attended a big pig roast at the Virginia rendezvous of Charley and Francis Thomas with the new attorney general just one day before McGranery's confirmation fight came up in the Senate.

They questioned his judgment in ordering the 36th to cross the Rapido River during the Anzio landings of World War II which resulted in 2128 casualties. But when an Army report denied bad judgment in the case, his appointment was approved.

A 100 per cent military background is probably responsible for Gen. Clark's stoic, aloof and highly efficient way of life, which has won him many military honors. Born on the Army post at Madison Barracks, N.Y., May 1, 1896, son of a West Point colonel and grandson of a Civil War surgeon, it was natural for Clark to elect West Point as his school.

At the Point neither his scholastic nor social records were outstanding. He was graduated 110th in a class of 139. Little is recorded or remembered of him as an outstanding or unusual personality.

People close to him claim there is really only one recorded example of Clark wit. Reporting on a trip to an osteopath he told a friend:

"The osteopath and I wrestled around a bit, then I threw him out the window, and I just sat there with my left leg wrapped around my neck."

Clark's mother also takes his talents pretty much as a matter of course. At a party in Washington during the war, just after Clark had led his forces into Rome, everybody was praising her son's feats. To one person she sniffed:

"I don't see what everybody is so excited about Mark for. His father always taught him to do his duty. He was trained to be a good soldier. What he has done is no more than anybody could expect of him."

Clark is generally regarded as having the perfect general's bearing. Six-feet, two-inches tall, he stands and walks rigidly erect. He is lean, hard, has broad square shoulders, and a hawk-nose gives him a faintly Lincolnian look. He speaks in clipped, precise phrases.

Controversies Are Old Story To Mark Clark, UN Boss In Far East

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Major upsets like the one he was thrust into over POW uprisings in Korea don't make much of a dent in the cool, reserved demeanor of Gen. Mark W. Clark, new commander of U.S. and UN forces in the Far East.

The successor to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has the happy faculty of taking such things in stride. Before this ruckus, he hit the front pages as President Truman's nominee to the highly controversial post of ambassador to the Vatican. When the pressure against creating the job became too great for the President, Gen. Clark quietly asked that his name be withdrawn.

But the fact that he had been nominated showed what the White House and Pentagon thought of Clark's abilities.

Previously Clark was publicly embroiled in a more personal affair. A group of former officers and men of the 36th Texas National Guard Division protested his appointment as Army Field Force Commander before Congress.

They questioned his judgment in ordering the 36th to cross the Rapido River during the Anzio landings of World War II which resulted in 2128 casualties. But when an Army report denied bad judgment in the case, his appointment was approved.

SMEARING EISENHOWER—We are not for Dwight D. Eisenhower for President of the United States. Fact is, we haven't at this writing made up our mind who we are for. That we have not come to a choice should not be surprising, since the party conventions, not the columnists or the people in general, decide the presidential candidates.

When the political parties make up their collective minds on who they will offer for president, then we can make our decision on who we will vote for.

From a sense of fair play, however, we can tell you who we are against. It is the not-easily-identified forces conducting a smear campaign against Eisenhower.

To this end there has been general circulation of a tabloid-size so-called newspaper titled "Headlines," edited by Joseph P. Kamp (not otherwise identified), and published in New York City.

THE DIRTY BRUSH—"Headlines" has 16 pages—all devoted to smearing Eisenhower.

It is published in the interest of providing information behind the headlines and is for "speakers, writers, students and everyone in search of the pertinent facts."

The "pertinent facts" is a collection of innuendo, insinuation, and character assassination.

Eisenhower is a Socialist, a Communist, a man who would sell out his country to the internationalists, a left-winger, and even worse—the possible choice of the Democratic party as its presidential nominee.

All of this is a carefully prepared pot of smear that is palatable to the indiscriminating or biased.

As a clincher "Headlines" offers a $5,000 "reward" to the "Red Cross" or some other recognized charity designated by General Eisenhower if the charges made in this issue of Headlines can be disproved by anybody.

THERE ARE NO CHARGES—"Headlines" makes its challenging offer of reward because it steers short of making outright "charges" against Eisenhower. Here is a sample of insinuation without specific charge:

"General Eisenhower's personal role in the whole situation (internationalism) is an unpleasant one. A fundamentally decent man and a great American, he finds himself caught in the relentless grip of sinister forces which he cannot resist."

The above quote from "Headlines" indicates the smiling knife-in-the-back type of writing that presents Eisenhower as a "great American" who is the tool of "sinister forces."

That the two cannot be combined should be obvious. "Headlines" knows it is on safe ground when it prints such gibberish and calls it "charges."

SWEET ISOLATIONISM—A careful perusal of the smear pamphlet reveals rather amazing contradictions from the political viewpoint.

The late Wendell "One World" Willkie is described as "dreary" and his unsuccessful campaign for President "taken over by the internationalists."

Thomas Dewey "followed the promptings of his international advisors . . . and threw away his chance for victory."

Of Eisenhower: "With the chips down, the internationalists can be expected to hold nothing back in their desperate attempt to put over Eisenhower in Chicago."

All of the above appears to add up to one conclusion: Whoever is behind the headlines of "Headlines" is an isolationist.

IN CONCLUSION—"Headlines" complains that "there is no such terrific drive by the press, radio, mass circulation magazines and 'liberal' opinion leaders" for Gen. MacArthur as there is for Gen. Eisenhower.

Here again the inference is that press and radio are biased and the tools of (presumably) "sinister forces."

Out of the welter of accusations there appears to be two conclusions to be drawn from "Headlines": 1—Isolationism is wonderful; 2—Eisenhower is not an isolationist.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

WORDS OF GOOD OMEN

When we say, "The direction of the wind is auspicious," we mean, if we are planning a sail or an outdoor activity, it appears that the weather, or at least the wind, will be favorable. An auspicious occasion is one favored by fortune. In other words, auspicious means of good omen, favorable.

And when we say that such and such an affair will be "under the auspices of" a certain group, we mean that it will be under the patronage or favoring guidance of that group.

When you see the source of the two words, "auspice" (AWS-pis) and "auspicious" (AWS-pish-us), it may be difficult to see how they have come to have their present meaning. They come, that is, from Latin "avis," bird, and "specio," to watch. The ancient Roman "auspex" (AWS-pex) was a bird watcher.

That's true, but unlike the modern bird watcher, who is a lover of birds and a student of their habits, the old auspex had the belief, shared by many ancient peoples, that future events and the purposes of the gods were revealed by signs or omens carried by birds. Flying through the heavens, they were thought to be messengers of the gods.

For that reason, certain men were appointed whose duty it was to watch the flights of birds, to determine the kind of bird, but especially to make note of the quarter of the sky in which they appeared and the direction in which they flew. Sometimes it was also important to listen to their songs and to observe the food they chose.

In Roman practice the auspex or "augur" faced the south when watching for signs passed along by the birds. The eastern heavens upon his left were where he looked for favorable omens; unfavorable omens appeared to his right or in the western quarter of the sky. The result of his watching was reported to the city rulers who then decided whether the time was ripe to begin some important undertaking.

Tomorrow We Tribute Our Nation's Dead

TOMORROW is Memorial Day, a day annually dedicated to those who have passed on. It is a day of tribute to the nation's honored war dead and a day set aside for each of us to remember our loved ones who are dead.

It is, of course, fitting and proper that we should pause in our normal routine of living to devote this day in fond memory of those who have passed away, to pray for them and to visit their graves.

Too often we lose sight of the purposes of our holidays and regard them only as an excuse for a vacation, an occasion for fun.

The Doctor Says . . . For First Sun Exposure Don't Rely On Protection of Lotions

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Here we go again with the usual early summer crop of sun-worshippers who don't have enough sense to know when enough is enough.

Invariably, after the first sunny Sunday or holiday of early summer, a few shining lights appear in almost every office with bright red skins and blisters, showing their lack of good sense in exposing themselves to the sun the day before.

Notice, too, how often it is the same ones who burned themselves the year before and ought to have known better, but just never seem to learn.

A severe sunburn is not only uncomfortable but can be dangerous. Furthermore, sunburn is no aid to health. True, the sun's rays are necessary for the growth of plants and help in maintaining the health and well-being of human beings and animals.

One of the benefits which the sun can give is to aid the human skin to produce a substance called vitamin D, which is necessary for complete good health and which prevents rickets in children.

A brown, tanned color is the result of the deposit of a pigment or coloring matter in the skin called melanin. This helps to protect the body against getting too much from the sun's rays. When the skin becomes pale it means that there is not much melanin present.

Melanin does not flow to the skin at once on exposure to sun, but takes time. A white skin, therefore, is not as well protected against the sun as it is when good tanning is present.

Until the skin is protected in this way it can be burned by the sun in almost exactly the same way that it can be burned by any other hot substance.

When the skin is burned by the sun the outer layers are killed and have to be replaced from the layers below. After a severe sunburn, for example, the outer layers are shed in sheets and pull off.

The dead outer layers do not get any benefit from the sun and actually prevent some of the good which is desired.

DON'T SLEEP IN SUN

People who are not accustomed to much sunlight and do not show tanning should be careful about the first few exposures. Falling asleep in the sun is particularly risky.

A number of ointments or lotions can be placed on the skin and will protect somewhat against says of the sun and promote tanning rather than burning, but someone with a pale skin should not put too much reliance on them.

Hollywood—John Barrymore, the dominant Shakespearean actor of his day and who was ranked as one of the greatest interpreters of Shakespearean roles of all time, died in a Hollywood hospital of a heart ailment.

Sturgeon River Trout Planted

NAHMA, Mich.—Two thousand legal sized trout—German Browns and Rainbows—were planted by the Michigan Conservation Department in the Sturgeon River and Carr Ponds, north of Nahma, on May 20.

The trout, ranging from 7 to 12 inches in length, were transported in an aereated tank truck from the state fish hatchery at Thompson. A hatchery worker and Conservation Officer Hugh J. Fisher of Nahma had charge of the planting, and were assisted by two Indiana fishermen, Dr. Carl J. Rudolph of South Bend, and Martin Kaylor of Mishawaka, who had come up one day early to fish for walleyed pike.

Plantings were made at the Flowing Well Park, Ten Mile Rapids, Haynes Dam and Gravel Pit sites on the Sturgeon River, and in the Carr Ponds, a series of spring-fed beaver ponds.

The Michigan Conservation Department's goal is to plant one million legal sized trout this year. It takes about a year to grow to legal size. Because of scarcity and high price of liver, hatchery trout are fed cereals nowadays, instead of liver.

Trout were transferred from aerated tanks and truck to buckets, and then to river. Officer Fisher lost no time in carrying fish from truck to river because the trout are injured if they are allowed to remain within narrow confines of the bucket. Each bucket holds about 75 trout.

TROUT PLANTING—Dr. Carl J. Rudolph, South Bend, Indiana, assisted Conservation Department officials in planting 2,000 legal-sized trout in the Sturgeon River north of Nahma last week.

Truman Picks Weak Personnel

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—One of the things that must puzzle the public in this year of fevered politicking is the administration's stubborn track record of appointing smudgy personnel to high posts, over what seems common sense.

Naturally, the Democrats were aware that Newbold Morris was implicated in that swift tanker-turnover deal when they sent him to Washington to investigate the Justice Department. The political thinking most certainly was that Sir Galahad's connection with the smelly ship transaction would shift the heat from Newbold's investigation and turn it back on him.

But with Newbold fired and Howard McGrath fired for firing Newbold, so to speak, it would seem to a semi-logical mind that, for once, Harry S. would select candidates for the Justice Department who were so pure, so clean, so unblemished, so free of association with any but the Boy Scouts, that not even the Republicans could holler with any justification.

Little Men in Big Jobs
But the stench of the Amerasia case follows Judge James P. McGranery to his fresh appointment to succeed Howard McGrath, and there is other evidence of his judicial handling of criminal cases sufficient to cause some screams from the opposition. Maybe the new boss of justice is the best legal head unhung, but the opposition to his appointment was plenty, and a new quarrel sprouts on the hill.

Under Judge McGranery, in the No. 2 job, is a guy named Devitt Vanech, who seems to have spent most of his early adult life trying unsuccessfully to pass bar exams. There is some cloud on his passage of the Tennessee bar. Again, may be this is the greatest lawyer since Clarence Darrow, but the room for alarms and excursions is still there on the two top boys in the big law-enforcement foundry.

Over the years it seems to me that Truman has almost maliciously attempted to stretch the public patience with suspect appointees. His determined fight to put Ed Pauley in as Secretary of the Navy and his sponsorship of Mon Wallgren are two other examples. He has clung stubbornly to his cronies, until actual criminal prosecution has forced his retirement of some and complete national indignation has caused the dismissal of others.

Baffling Statements
I should hate to believe that the President of the United States is dumb enough to do some of the things he has done in the past six years, or arrogant enough to believe that the country will stomach all his actions. The appointment of William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico, when Bill was in process of fleeing the heat of a corruption investigation of New York, still remains a paramount example of either complete stupidity or complete disdainful cynicism.

Mr. Truman's record of outrageous and at times wholly baffling statements still puzzle us as the actions of an intelligent operator in office. The "red-herring" business, the "eyewash" business, the censorship business, the seizure of industry business, the summary firing of Douglas MacArthur business—in fact, most of the vital Harry Truman business still confounds me as a simple thinker.

Harry S. is certainly a man beset by grave responsibility, and as he is supposed to be, of all things, a canny politician, and, so help me, Hannah, the mass of his action would not have well become a petty ward heeler. Nobody expects him to be a genius at world diplomacy, but you would have thought to credit him with the simple ciphers of basic political expediency.

The enormity of the blunders committed in high office are measurable by the fact that the average cab driver talks politics to you now, instead of baseball. A keen and pretty accurate interest in Washington and the year's elections has simmered down to levels of public interest I never noticed before. I cannot think that this much impact on the common consciousness was

THOSE who oppose capital punishment in principle—and this newspaper has consistently been among those who share this viewpoint—must concede that the capital punishment bill now before the Michigan Legislature is the only adequate solution to the problem of murderous convicts who grab prison guards as hostages in their escape efforts.

Special and more severe treatment must necessarily be accorded to convicts than the penalties provided for others who violate the laws of the state. A convict with a life prison sentence, for instance, will not hesitate to kill a guard and any other person in an escape plan, knowing that the penalty for his action cannot be any more severe than the life sentence he is already serving. Knowledge of this condition makes the criminal prisoner more vicious and more brutal, completely disdaining the life of another person.

Recently an escaped convict killed a woman in Michigan on a foray while he was on the loose. Under existing law there is nothing that can be done to this convict except return him to prison for a longer sentence.

The capital punishment bill, of course, cannot be the whole solution to the prison revolt problem. The overcrowding in prisons should be eliminated. Homosexuals and psychopathic convicts should be segregated. Convicts who act and behave normally should be treated as human beings, not animals.

We do not believe the capital punishment bill, if enacted by the Legislature, will guarantee that rioting convicts will not murder their hostages but it may act as a deterrent. And, in any case, if they do commit such villainous acts in prison or as escapees from prison, the law will permit their execution and disposition of an extremely vexing prison problem.

Some Difference In U. S. And U. S. S. R.

THIS newspaper recently carried an article by William L. Ryan of the Associated Press which dealt with conditions in Moscow. It was based on information gained from a man who had recently left the Soviet capital. According to him, the Kremlin makes a point of raising living standards a trifle each year. Even so they are far below the level of the United States and many other nations. A constant barrage of propaganda is employed to convince the Russian masses that "nobody else in the world ever had it so good."

Mr. Ryan dealt briefly with the situation in Russian retail stores. One leading department store, he wrote, "opens at about 11 a. m. At 9 a. m. there is already a queue running far back from the entrance. The store is invariably crowded, as are the food stores. There are some attractive displays in the windows, but usually the purchaser fails to find these items on the shelves."

Contrast this with the average American store—whether it be large or small, a chain or an independent. Long waiting lines are unknown, except in the case of some terrific bargain sale. There is plenty of goods for all who want to buy—and a very wide selection of styles, colors, qualities and so on. There are no phony window dressings—whatever is displayed there is on sale inside. If the consumer doesn't like one store, he is free to go to a competitor's shop. He could not do that in Russia, where everything is a state monopoly.

Next time you shop, whether for such daily necessities as food or for a season's wardrobe, think of the vast differences between freedom and communism. It should make you mighty glad you live here—not in the "workers' paradise" the Kremlin bosses.

Harriman Makes Feeble Thunder

W AVERELL HARRIMAN, Mutual Security Administrator is trying hard to sound like a hard-bitten old political campaigner. The other day he reiterated that he is an all-out candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and added for good measure that he felt he could lick either Senator Taft or General Eisenhower.

Harriman is an able fellow and a high type of public servant. But the spectacle of this normally quiet-spoken man attempting to thunder like a Claghorn is hardly convincing.

It suggests he stopped off at the magic store on the way and bought himself a ready-made lion's roar. And the effect is something less than ferocious.

A vicious circle—the more powder some wives use, the more husbands blow up.

Part of an old Kentucky jail is being used temporarily as a school. The kids should get a laugh out of that.

Any girl can make a name for herself, says a college professor. All she needs is a boy friend with a wedding ring.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When the White House decided about 18 months ago to proceed with production of the hydrogen bomb, it was considered a highly speculative project. Scientists thought they knew how to make it but weren't sure. They couldn't guarantee success.

Today, however, it can be revealed that progress is at the point where success is assured. The scientists now know that the H-bomb can be exploded.

But they are not entirely sure of one other phase of the operation—namely, what will happen after the explosion.

What worries them is the bare possibility that the bomb might misfire. If so, scientists say it would send a ring of fire around the world causing the earth's atmosphere to glow brighter than the sun, and the earth's surface to melt into glass.

The scientists are confident this won't happen, but they also say they never can be exactly sure of the H-bomb's effect.

However, what equally worries them is the reported rapid progress of the Russians on various types of atomic weapons. That's the reason why President Truman is preparing an extra budget of about five billions for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Note—The first H-bomb will be exploded at Eniwetok this summer.

TWO TEXANS

A lot of senators would give their eyeteeth to know how the Supreme Court is going to rule on the government's seizure of the steel companies. But there is only one among them who has gall enough to ask—Sen. Long Tom Connally of Texas.

It's usual social custom at Washington dinner parties never to mention a Supreme Court case in front of a justice. However, the venerable Texan, who has been in Congress for more than a quarter of a century, once approached his fellow Texan, Justice Tom Clark, at a dinner party when the court was considering a racial question in Texas universities.

"Tom," asked the senator, "what's the court going to do about letting niggers in to our colleges?"

Justice Clark seemed embarrassed and evasive.

"Are you fellows going to open up our universities to the niggers?" pursued the senior senator from Texas. "You know who it was who put you in the justice department. It was me. And I don't want you to go round puttin' on airs and forgettin' folks."

Note — The Supreme Court later ruled against Connally's views on the race issue.

TWO GENTLEMEN FROM DENVER

If the two gentlemen from Denver in the President's cabinet could put their heads together instead of pulling apart, they might work out a new newsprint supply for the United States which would save marginal papers from going out of business.

The two cabinet members are Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman and Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan, both from Denver. Chapman is in charge of Alaska and the Indian Bureau, while Brannan is in charge of the Forest Service.

In order to develop newsprint it's necessary to get the cooperation of Alaskan officials, plus the Indians on whose reservations is considerable timber, plus the Forest Service. Chapman has had several conferences with publishers with a view to developing Alaskan newsprint, but each time runs up against opposition from Secretary Brannan's Forest Service.

Meanwhile Canadian newsprint suppliers have hiked the price so high that small or marginal newspapers are in serious danger.

While the Truman administration knocks the newspapers, what it doesn't seem to realize is that the only way to continue diversified press opinion is to continue newspaper competition. And with newsprint exorbitantly high, newspapers must either merge or go out of business.

STRANGE CHAMPION

A lot of people have been wondering why GOP Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho, sometimes called the Senate's "Junior McCarthy," suddenly turned up as the great champion of new Attorney General Jim McGranery during his Senate confirmation fight. . . . Also GOP Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, who usually votes with the Republicans against administration policies, strangely supported McGranery's confirmation. . . . Bridges, of course, has been under scrutiny in connection with mystery-man Henry Grunewald plus the tax-fixing of Baltimore liquor-dealer Hyman Klein. . . . Both Bridges and Welker attended a big pig roast at the Virginia rendezvous of Charles and Francis Thomas with the new attorney general just one day before McGranery's confirmation fight came up in the Senate.

At the Point neither his scholastic nor social records were outstanding. He was graduated 110th in a class of 139. Little is recorded or remembered of him as an outstanding or unusual personality. . . . People close to him claim there is really only one recorded example of Clark wit. Reporting on a trip to an osteopath he told a friend: "The osteopath and I wrestled around a bit, then I threw him out the window, and I just sat there with my left leg wrapped around my neck."

Clark's mother also takes his talents pretty much as a matter of course. At a party in Washington during the war, just after Clark had led his forces into Rome everybody was praising her son's feats. To one person she sniffed: "I don't see what everybody is so excited about Mark for. His father always taught him to do his duty. He was trained to be a good soldier. What he has done is no more than anybody could expect of him."

Clark is generally regarded as having the perfect general's bearing. Six-feet, two-inches tall, he stands and walks rigidly erect. He is lean, hard, has broad square shoulders, and a hawk-nose gives him a faintly Lincolnian look. He speaks in clipped, precise phrases.

The most exciting and adventurous event of Clark's military career is the eight days he spent on the Algerian Coast, after being landed secretly by submarine, gathering data and information for the later invasion of Africa by Allied forces during World War II.

After the landing, he successfully negotiated with a group of French generals to order a cease-fire on French resistance.

It was after leaving the Point that it became apparent Clark had a brilliant career in store for him. He took to studying in his spare time, and won recognition for valor and leadership during World War I. Between wars he was almost coaxed out of the Army to take a job as executive with an Indiana utility company, but was talked out of it by his father.

One of Gen. Clark's big assets is the ability to impress persons over him or who work with him by his persuasiveness, frankness and decisive thinking. "Buttering up" anyone is not his way of doing business. And while he has none of the Eisenhower warmth, for instance, Clark does have ability in handling diplomatic matters. He can turn on the charm when it's necessary.

Clark is known in the Army as a tough but not a harsh leader. His chief concern has always been to have men under him well trained. Old friends who speak of him with great affection are hard to find in the Army, but there are plenty of officers who have served with and under him who greatly admire him as a soldier.

He is married, has a married daughter, and a son who is also a West Point graduate and a Korean veteran.

We wish to make known to the whole world that we shall proceed resolutely with the great task of building a new Japan adhering strictly to the spirit of self-help.—Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida.

Controversies Are Old Story To Mark Clark, UN Boss In Far East

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Major upsets like the one he was thrust into over POW uprisings in Korea don't make much of a dent in the cool, reserved demeanor of Gen. Mark W. Clark, new commander of U.S. and UN forces in the Far East.

The successor to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has the happy faculty of taking such things in stride. Before this ruckus, he hit the front pages as President Truman's nominee to the highly controversial post of ambassador to the Vatican. When the pressure against creating the job became too great for the President, Gen. Clark quietly asked that his name be withdrawn.

But the fact that he had been nominated showed what the White House and Pentagon thought of Clark's abilities.

Previously Clark was publicly embroiled in a more personal affair. A group of former officers and men of the 36th Texas National Guard Division protested his appointment as Army Field Force Commander before Congress.

They questioned his judgment in ordering the 36th to cross the Rapido River during the Anzio landings of World War II which resulted in 2128 casualties. But when an Army report denied bad judgment in the case, his appointment was approved.

A 100 per cent military background is probably responsible for Gen. Clark's stoic, aloof and highly efficient way of life, which has won him many military honors. Born on the Army post at Madison Barracks, N.Y., May 1, 1896, son of a West Point colonel and grandson of a Civil War surgeon, it was natural for Clark to elect West Point as his school.

At the Point neither his scholastic nor social records were outstanding. He was graduated 110th in a class of 139. Little is recorded or remembered of him as an outstanding or unusual personality. . . . People close to him claim there is really only one recorded example of Clark wit. ### Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

SMEARING EISENHOWER—We are not for Dwight D. Eisenhower for President of the United States. Fact is, we haven't at this writing made up our mind who we are for. That we have not come to a choice should not be surprising, since the party conventions, not the columnists or the people in general, decide the presidential candidates.

When the political parties make up their collective minds on who they will offer for president, then we can make our decision on who we will vote for.

From a sense of fair play, however, we can tell you who we are against. It is the not-easily-identified forces conducting a smear campaign against Eisenhower.

To this end there has been general circulation of a tabloid-size so-called newspaper titled "Headlines," edited by Joseph P. Kamp (not otherwise identified), and published in New York City.

THE DIRTY BRUSH—"Headlines" has 16 pages—all devoted to smearing Eisenhower.

It is published in the interest of providing information behind the headlines and is for "speakers, writers, students and everyone in search of the pertinent facts."

The "pertinent facts" is a collection of innuendo, insinuation, and character assassination.

Eisenhower is a Socialist, a Communist, a man who would sell out his country to the internationalists, a left-winger, and even worse—the possible choice of the Democratic party as its presidential nominee.

All of this is a carefully prepared pot of smear that is palatable to the undiscriminating or biased.

As a clincher "Headlines" offers a $5,000 "reward" to the "Red Cross" or some other recognized charity designated by General Eisenhower if the charges made in this issue of Headlines can be disproved by anybody.

THERE ARE NO CHARGES—"Headlines" makes its challenging offer of reward because it steers short of making outright "charges" against Eisenhower. Here is a sample of insinuation without specific charge:

"General Eisenhower's personal role in the whole situation (internationalism) is an unpleasant one. A fundamentally decent man and a great American, he finds himself caught in the relentless grip of sinister forces which he cannot resist."

The above quote from "Headlines" indicates the smiling knife-in-the-back type of writing that presents Eisenhower as a "great American" who is the tool of "sinister forces."

That the two cannot be combined should be obvious. "Headlines" knows it is on safe ground when it prints such gibberish and calls it "charges."

SWEET ISOLATIONISM—A careful perusal of the smear pamphlet reveals rather amazing contradictions from the political viewpoint.

The late Wendell "One World" Willkie is described as "dreary" and his unsuccessful campaign for President "taken over by the internationalists."

Thomas Dewey "followed the promptings of his international advisors . . . and threw away his chance for victory."

Of Eisenhower: "With the chips down, the internationalists can be expected to hold nothing back in their desperate attempt to put over Eisenhower in Chicago."

All of the above appears to add up to one conclusion: Whoever is behind the headlines of "Headlines" is an isolationist.

IN CONCLUSION—"Headlines" complains that "there is no such terrific drive by the press, radio, mass circulation magazines and 'liberal' opinion leaders" for Gen. MacArthur as there is for Gen. Eisenhower.

Here again the inference is that press and radio are biased and the tools of (presumably) "sinister forces."

Out of the welter of accusations there appears to be two conclusions to be drawn from "Headlines": 1—Isolationism is wonderful; 2—Eisenhower is not an isolationist.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

WORDS OF GOOD OMEN

When we say, "The direction of the wind is auspicious," we mean, if we are planning a sail or an outdoor activity, it appears that the weather, or at least the wind, will be favorable. An auspicious occasion is one favored by fortune. In other words, auspicious means of good omen, favorable.

And when we say that such and such an affair will be "under the auspices of" a certain group, we mean that it will be under the patronage or favoring guidance of that group.

When you see the source of the two words, "auspice" (AWS-pis) and "auspicious" (aws-PISH-us), it may be difficult to see how they have come to have their present meaning. They come, that is, from Latin "avis," bird, and "specio," to watch. The ancient Roman "auspex" (AWS-pex) was a bird watcher.

That's true, but unlike the modern bird watcher, who is a lover of birds and a student of their habits, the old auspex had the belief, shared by many ancient peoples, that future events and the purposes of the gods were revealed by signs or omens carried by birds. Flying through the heavens, they were thought to be messengers of the gods.

For that reason, certain men were appointed whose duty it was to watch the flights of birds, to determine the kind of bird, but especially to make note of the quarter of the sky in which they appeared and the direction in which they flew. Sometimes it was also important to listen to their songs and to observe the food they chose.

In Roman practice the auspex or "augur" faced the south when watching for signs passed along by the birds. The eastern heavens upon his left were where he looked for favorable omens; unfavorable omens appeared to his right or in the western quarter of the sky. The result of his watching was reported to the city rulers who then decided whether the time was ripe to begin some important undertaking.

'Ridgway Go Home' Slogan Boomerangs

SUPPORTING the Chinese Communists' "big lie" propaganda that the Allies used germ warfare in Korea, French Reds are going all out against Gen. Matthew Ridgway, General Eisenhower's successor as Supreme Commander of NATO forces in Europe. They call him "General Plague" and parade with placards saying "Ridgway Go Home."

The latter slogan, at least, will have little more effect on many Parisians than to produce a laugh. For it will remind them of the gag of the year, which currently has Paris chuckling.

One of the Reds' favorite stunts is to go out at night and paint, in foot-high letters, the slogan "Americans Go Home" on sidewalks or the walls of buildings. To one of these, recently, some was added: "Via Pan-American Airways." It was a good gag, and everyone who hears it immediately bursts into laughter—unless he's a Communist, of course.

But it really has a significance deeper than a superficial expression of Gallic or American wit. For one thing, it uses the Commies' own anti-American propaganda to give an enterprise of the hated Americans invaluable word-of-mouth advertising as the joke spreads far and wide.

But even more important, it punctures a favorite Red slogan. For you may be certain that no one who has heard the "via Pan-American" joke can ever again see the line "Americans Go Home" without laughing.

Tomorrow We Tribute Our Nation's Dead

TOMORROW is Memorial Day, a day annually dedicated to those who have passed on. It is a day of tribute to the nation's honored war dead and a day set aside for each of us to remember our loved ones who are dead.

It is, of course, fitting and proper that we should pause in our normal routine of living to devote this day in fond memory of those who have passed away, to pray for them and to visit their graves.

Too often we lose sight of the purposes of our holidays and regard them only as an excuse for a vacation, an occasion for fun.

The Doctor Says . . . For First Sun Exposure Don't Rely On Protection of Lotions

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Here we go again with the usual early summer crop of sun-worshippers who don't have enough sense to know when enough is enough.

Invariably, after the first sunny Sunday or holiday of early summer, a few shining lights appear in almost every office with bright red skins and blisters, showing their lack of good sense in exposing themselves to the sun the day before.

Notice, too, how often it is the same ones who burned themselves the year before and ought to have known better, but just never seem to learn.

A severe sunburn is not only uncomfortable but can be dangerous. Furthermore, sunburn is no aid to health. True, the sun's rays are necessary for the growth of plants and help in maintaining the health and well-being of human beings and animals.

One of the benefits which the sun can give is to aid the human skin to produce a substance called vitamin D, which is necessary for complete good health and which prevents rickets in children.

A brown, tanned color is the result of the deposit of a pigment or coloring matter in the skin called melanin. This helps to protect the skin against getting too much from the sun's rays. When the skin becomes pale it means that there is not much melanin present.

Melanin does not flow to the skin at once on exposure to sun, but takes time. A white skin, therefore, is not as well protected against the sun as it is when good tanning is present.

Until the skin is protected in this way it can be burned by the sun in almost exactly the same way that it can be burned by any other hot substance.

When the skin is burned by sun the outer layers are killed and have to be replaced from the layers below. After a severe sunburn, for example, the outer layers are shed in sheets and pull off.

The dead outer layers do not get any benefit from the sun and actually prevent some of the good which is desired.

DON'T SLEEP IN SUN

People who are not accustomed to much sunlight and do not show tanning should be careful about the first few exposures. Falling asleep in the sun is particularly risky.

A number of ointments or lotions can be placed on the skin and will protect somewhat against rays of the sun and promote tanning rather than burning, but someone with a pale skin should not put too much reliance on them.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Cairo, Egypt—British tanks repulsed a German armored force that had charged within 50 miles of the Egyptian border as Allied axis forces fought a bitter, wide-ranging series of battles all around the Libyan desert approaches to the Tobruk.

Washington, D. C.—Talk of curbing the powers of Price Administrator Leon Henderson was heard again on Capitol Hill as influential members of Congress joined in the opposition to nationwide gasoline rationing.

Hollywood—John Barrymore, the dominant Shakespearean actor of his day and who was ranked as one of the greatest interpreters of Shakespearean roles of all time, died in a Hollywood hospital of a heart ailment.

20 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—A plea from three children for their father's freedom was so appealing that President Hoover promised to consider carefully the case of an obscure prisoner in a Detroit jail.

Escanaba—Miss Marie McGuire arrived from Sault Ste. Marie to visit her father, George McGuire.

Manistiquie—Ellis Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley B. Orr, passed his examinations for entrance into the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and was ordered to report for his physical examination.

Gladstone—a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Heslip.

Munising—Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Niks left for a visit in Chillicothe, O.

Sturgeon River Trout Planted

NAHMA, Mich.—Two thousand legal sized trout—German Browns and Rainbows—were planted by the Michigan Conservation Department in the Sturgeon River and Carr Ponds, north of Nahma, on May 20. The trout, ranging from 7 to 12 inches in length, were transported from an aereated tank truck from the state fish hatchery at Thompson. A hatchery worker and Conservation Officer Hugh J. Fisher of Nahma had charge of the planting, and were assisted by two Indiana fishermen, Dr. Carl J. Rudolph of South Bend, and Martin Kaylor of Mishawaka, who had come one day early to fish for walleyed pike. Plantings were made at the Flowing Well Park, Ten Mile Rapids, Haynes Dam and Gravel Pit sites on the Sturgeon River, and in the Carr Ponds, a series of spring-fed beaver ponds. The Michigan Conservation Department's goal is to plant one million legal sized trout this year. It takes about a year to grow to legal size. Because of scarcity and high price of liver, hatchery trout are fed cereals nowadays, instead of liver.

Trout were transferred from aerated tanks and truck to buckets, and then to river. Officer Fisher lost no time in carrying fish from truck to river because the trout are injured if they are allowed to remain within narrow confines of the bucket. Each bucket holds about 75 trout.

TROUT PLANTING—Dr. Carl J. Rudolph, South Bend, Indiana, assisted Conservation Department officials in planting 2,000 legal-sized trout in the Sturgeon River north of Nahma last week.

Truman Picks Weak Personnel

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—One of the things that must puzzle the public in this year of fevered politicking is the administration's stubborn track record of appointing smudgy personnel to high posts, over what seems common sense.

Naturally, the Democrats were aware that Newbold Morris was implicated in that swift tanker-turnover deal when they sent him to Washington to investigate the Justice Department. The political thinking most certainly was that Sir Galahad's connection with the smelly ship transaction would shift the heat from Newbold's investigation and turn it back on him.

But with Newbold fired and Howard McGrath fired for firing Newbold, so to speak, it would seem to a semi-logically mind that, for once, Harry S. would select candidates for the Justice Department who were so pure, so clean, so unblemished, so free of association with any but the Boy Scouts, that not even the Republicans could holler with any justification.

Little Men in Big Jobs
But the stench of the Amerasia case follows Judge James P. McGranery to his fresh appointment to succeed Howard McGrath, and there is other evidence of his judicial handling of criminal cases sufficient to cause some screams from the opposition. Maybe the new boss of justice is the best legal head unhung, but the opposition to his appointment was plenty, and a new quarrel sprouts on the hill.

Under Judge McGranery, in the No. 2 job, is a guy named Devitt Vanech, who seems to have spent most of his early adult life trying unsuccessfully to pass bar exams. There is some cloud on his passage of the Tennessee bar. Again, maybe this is the greatest lawyer since Clarence Darrow, but the room for alarums and excursions is still there on the two top boys in the big law-enforcement foundry.

Over the years it seems to me that Truman has almost maliciously attempted to stretch the public patience with suspect appointees. His determined fight to put Ed Pauley in as Secretary of the Navy and his sponsorship of Mon Wallgren are two other examples. He has clung stubbornly to his cronies, until actual criminal prosecution has forced his retirement of some and complete national indignation has caused the dismissal of others.

Baffling Statements
I should hate to believe that the President of the United States is dumb enough to do some of the things he has done in the past six years, or arrogant enough to believe that the country will stomach all his actions. The appointment of William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico, when Bill was in process of fleeing the heat of a corruption investigation of New York, still remains a paramount example of either complete stupidity or complete disdainful cynicism.

Mr. Truman's record of outrageous and at times wholly baffling statements still puzzle us as the actions of an intelligent operator in office. The "red-herring" business, the "eyewash" business, the censorship business, the seizure of industry business, the summary firing of Douglas MacArthur business—in fact, most of the vital Harry Truman business still confounds me as a simple thinker.

Harry S. is certainly a man beset by grave responsibility, and as he is supposed to be, of all things, a canny politician, and, so help me, Hannah, the mass of his action would not have well become a petty ward heeler. Nobody expects him to be a genius at world diplomacy, but you would have thought to credit him with the simple ciphers of basic political expediency.

The enormity of the blunders committed in high office are measurable by the fact that the average cab driver talks politics to you now, instead of baseball. A keen and pretty accurate interest in Washington and the year's elections has simmered down to levels of public interest I never noticed before. I cannot think that this much impact on the common consciousness was engineered by intelligent political administration. There has got to be a word for the way Harry has run his show, and I'm afraid the word is stupid.

Bethany Begins Augustana Fund Appeal Sunday

Bethany Lutheran Church will initiate a special financial appeal on behalf of Augustana Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill., Pentecost Sunday, June 1.

The local church plans to raise $1,822 toward the total goal of $450,000 to be used in the erection of a library and archives building. The local project also includes a gift to Fortune Lake Bible Camp.

The Seminary has been serving the Augustana Lutheran Church since 1860. The present and former pastors of the local congregation have been graduates of this school. The present buildings were erected in 1923 to accommodate a student body of 95. At present the Seminary has a total enrollment of 248 with more than 200 men on campus. Funds now being raised will provide for a new library building which will include additional classrooms, faculty offices, audio-visual room, student assembly, and adequate quarters for the official archives of the Church.

Pentecost is the birthday of the Christian Church and ranks with Easter and Christmas as a major church festivity. Pentecost Communion will be observed Saturday at 7 p. m. and Sunday at both the 8:30 and 10:45 a. m. services. The graduating class will meet at the parsonage for fellowship at 9:30 a. m. and attend the 10:45 service.

AS WE LIVE

Grandmother, 78, Needs Family's Extra Tolerance

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
(Q) "About 10 years ago, my grandmother who is now 78 years old, used to spend her leisure time knitting, reading the newspaper, doing crossword puzzles, and a bit of gardening. She also prepared the meals, made beds and dusted. Now, 10 years later, she has no interest whatever in these things. She constantly sits at the window, taking notice of everything. The neighborhood children annoy her no end. My mother and I live downstairs from her and, every move we make, she must be told about. Naturally we take her age into consideration but at times it is quite hard not to fly off the handle. Any advice you could give us would be deeply appreciated."

(A) The only advice I can give you is to keep calm, be pleasant, and don't allow yourself to be disturbed by what your grandmother does or says. She is becoming senile and is not really herself any longer.

In a period of 10 years, when a person reaches your grandmother's age, mental and physical deterioration are likely to set in fast. Each year, or even half year from now on you will see changes and they will all be for the worse. There is nothing you or she can do to stop the ravages of age.

When people become senile, they are like children. Things they formerly enjoyed now lose their interest and things they formerly ignored now annoy them. Like children, they are curious about other people's business and their feelings are hurt if they do not get answers to their questions. Your grandmother will doubtless forget within 10 minutes anything you tell her so you don't have to worry about her gossiping to the neighbors about your affairs.

The wisest and kindest thing to do is to make your grandmother's last years as peaceful and happy as possible, no matter how great the personal sacrifices you and your mother must make. Never lose your temper, no matter how aggravating she is and never contradict what she says. Let her tell you that black it white if she wishes, and then agree cheerfully with her. If you can keep her calm and happy, the process of mental deterioration will be slower than if she suffers constantly from emotional upsets.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

In loving memory of our dear little daughter and sister, Marilyn Jean, who died four years ago tomorrow, May 30, 1948:

Dear Marilyn Jean, you are with us yet.
Your angel face, your charming smile;
Your memory is with us all the while.

Your memory is with us—but you are gone;
Time without you is much too long;
But while you lie in solitude,
You're with us in our every mood.

Your place is empty—you've gone away.
But safe in His arms you are today.
Your image at home is always seen;
Your memory is with us, dear Marilyn Jean.

Lions Courtesy Plan Approved

A unique parking meter courtesy program for visitors during the vacation season, sponsored by the Manistique Lions Club, was approved by the City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The system, expected to become effective at the beginning of the resort season on June 15, will apply only to out-of-county cars and will be operated this summer strictly on an experimental basis.

Under the plan every visiting car which over-parks will be issued a Lions Club courtesy ticket instead of a violation summons by the city officer on duty. The officer also will drop a nickel in the meter to give the over-parked visitor an extra hour of parking. Nickels for this will be provided by the Lions Club which, on its courtesy ticket, invites the visitor motorist to return the nickel to the club or to make a small donation to its sight and blind fund.

The courtesy slip will be good for only one extra hour of parking. If the car is in violation after the expiration of the hour, the courtesy ticket will be removed and a violation summons issued.

The plan was not approved without opposition. Councilman George Stephens contending that the program was unfair to local residents.

In proposing the plan the Lions Club spokesman pointed out that Manistique was an important resort community, that much effort and money are expended to attract summer visitors to the area, and that a little courtesy to tourists in the matter of parking meter violations would help Manistique maintain its reputation as "the friendly city."

"The visiting shopper or restaurant guest who gets nicked for a dollar for a few minutes over-parking ordinarily does not leave Manistique in a pleasant frame of mind, and may not stop here again," the local club spokesman pointed out.

100 Present For Mother-Daughter Banquet Monday

Approximately 100 mothers and daughters attended the first VFW mother-daughter banquet at the VFW hall Monday evening.

Dinner was served by members of the VFW post. Tables were decorated with spring flowers.

The program included invocation by Mrs. Harry Secore, the playing of a number of recordings by the late Mrs. F. E. Dayton, former local music teacher, and the reading of several short verses by John B. Nessman, VFW commander.

The VFW Auxiliary plans to return the compliment to the post by sponsoring and serving a father-son banquet later.

Main Issues Of 1952 Election Are Outlined By Senate Candidate

Primary issues of the 1952 national elections were outlined to Schoolcraft County Republicans at an informal coffee meeting yesterday morning at Denny's by John B. Martin, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

The speaker, introduced by J. Joseph Herbert, of Manistique, regent of the University of Michigan, stated that Republicans, now a minority party, must base their campaign on the critical issues of taxation, the high cost of living, federal governmental corruption, and the Korean situation.

Martin, who is Michigan's auditor general, said that only the Republican party is truly qualified to balance the federal budget, put a ceiling on expenditures, and undertake a program to reduce a tax burden on ordinary people which is gradually growing intolerable.

The Democratic party, he said, has been too long involved in a program of "tax and tax and spend" to make any effective effort to reduce taxes.

Can End Corruption
The same Republican party traits apply to the high cost of living, the speaker said. It is the only party that understands the need of a balanced budget and that is equipped to stop inflation with a sound fiscal policy.

The Republican party, he pointed out, is also the only political organization that has any real chance of "cleaning out the muck" nest of corruption in Washington. The present administration is too deeply involved to do an effective job. "When you have something to cover up," Martin said, "you don't do the kind of house-cleaning required."

Regarding the conflict in Korea, the speaker stated, it must be pointed out that the war is not going to be solved in Korea. Only when the United States is strong enough to call the turn on Soviet Russia can our country expect to find the world problem of Communism solved, he said.

"The only thing the Russians understand is strength," he said. "Because of their competent espionage system they know when we are bluffing, and they also know when we are not bluffing."

Stating that he was conducting his campaign on the general theme of "meet the people," he said that citizens should not be expected to vote for a candidate they have never seen nor heard.

Must Go To People
A party that does not concern itself with what people are interested in is of little value, Martin said, in urging that the Republican party conduct a campaign to contact the people and to reach the great mass of "in-between" voters whose ballot can be a decisive factor in any election.

Answering questions at the conclusion of his message, Martin estimated that federal expenses could be reduced 10 percent, that the peace-time seizure of private property by government sets a dangerous precedent, that the Taft-Hartley act needs some revision, as already outlined by Senator Taft, and that Senator Joseph McCarthy performed a patriotic service when he raised the issue of Communist influence in government.

Martin, accompanied by his campaign secretary, Ben Dean, of Grand Rapids, left Manistique for Sault Ste. Marie where he was scheduled to speak Wednesday noon. His final Upper Peninsula appearance was slated for last night in St. Ignace.

With Roy Crandall

There can be no doubt that Escanaba has the most extensive baseball organization of any city in the Upper Peninsula. Consider the teams and leagues that are in operation in this city during the Spring and Summer months. First, both the St. Joe and Escanaba high schools field interscholastic teams in the sport. At the lower levels there is the Little League organization which includes four teams of 12 to 14-year-olds. The next step up is Pony League which has six teams composed of 13 and 14 year old boys. At the same level is the city recreation league which includes a large number of youngsters but is not as strictly organized as Pony and Little Leagues. Then comes American Legion Junior baseball which encompasses youths up to 17. Escanaba will be represented by two such teams this season. At the top of the ladder is the city team, the Escanaba Bears of the Tri County circuit.

Pony League is new to Escanaba this season. Organization of the program was completed Tuesday with the first annual player auction in which team managers met to bid for the services of the young players, most of whom are graduates of Little League. Al Wiles made possible a second Legion team this Summer and the club will compete in the Waubesa League along with the Escanaba Cubs, managed by Al Ness who has long been associated with the sport here. One thing is sure. If a youngster between the ages of eight and 21 wants to play baseball in Escanaba, there's a spot open for him on one of the teams.

There are many things about the Escanaba baseball program that are attractive. Not the least of them is the fact that baseball itself is a good, healthy activity for boys and it keeps many of the youngsters busy during the long Summer months. And whether or not any of the boys in the program develop into big league material, there will surely be a lot of capable ball players here in future years as a result of the program for youngsters.

No Names Hand Harnies First Softball Defeat

No Names became the first team in Escanaba to pin a defeat on the powerful Harnischfeger softball team, turning the trick under the Memorial Field lights last night by an 8-7 score.

The No Names won behind Ike Eis who went the route on the mound. Eis drove in what proved to be the winning run in the top of the seventh inning with an infield hit.

Harnischfeger led 6-5 going into the seventh. Angie Him, No Name catcher, opened with a double and scored on a hot grounder to third by Chet White, who also homered with none on in the fourth. A walk and a hit batter set the stage for the run-scoring single by Eis. Harnischfeger rallied for a consolation run in the bottom of the seventh but couldn't close the gap.

Ray Wahowiak chucked the distance for Harnischfeger with Phil Brazeau serving behind the plate.

Power and Light broke up what seemed to be a tight game with a batch of runs in the fifth and went on to wallop Westby's Service 17-4 in another league clash. Jack Courneene and Wally Larson formed the winning battery. Ted Cavadeas and Bill Mulvaney worked for the losers.

Powers Blanks Felch In Finale

POWERS—Coach Zig Shesky's Powers-Spalding Tigers closed their 1952 baseball season yesterday with an impressive 7-0 victory over Felch.

The Tigers rest in second place in the Little Seven conference standings, trailing Florence by one game. The Bobcats have a pair of games remaining to be played.

Bob Lawrence tossed four-hit ball and fanned eight while walking one for the Tigers. Dale Seigler was also touched for four hits on the Felch mound. He fanned three and walked five.

Pittsburgh Going Nowhere At Rapid Pace In NL Race

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Wrong way Pittsburgh is running away from the national league. Without much trouble, the Pirates can clinch last place by July 4th.

Racing backward at a breathtaking .179 pace, they promise to find the answer to "how low is down," unless there is a drastic change, they should set a modern-day losing record in the majors.

Just look at the figures. Won 7; lost 32; games behind 21½. Games behind seventh place, 9½. And the season is only one fourth over.

If the BUCS keep it up they'll wind up with 28 victories for the year. Back in 1916 the Philadelphia A's set the modern low with a 36-117 season. In 1935 the Boston Braves finished with 38-

Golfers Try To Beat Ben Hogan

DALLAS — (AP) — The course over which the National Open will be played gets its first big test Saturday when champion Ben Hogan shoots against everybody.

It will be "National Golf Day" and all linksters, male and female, will be playing on their home courses in an effort to "beat Ben Hogan." Little Ben expects at least 100,000 to beat him. The reason: He'll be shooting on one of the toughest courses in the country while golfers playing against him will have all sorts of handicaps and be playing on every kind of course.

But he says it's a "wonderful idea" because all golfers will have to pay to play and the money goes to the USO and to the National Golf fund. "The only thing I dread about it," he smiled, "is having to hear the golfers tell me how they beat me as I go over the country. I'll get a description of every drive and putt."

In the club house at Northwood here you'll see this sign on the wall: "Notice! This golf course now being run by USGA through golf committee. Do not bellyache to Herman (The Greenskeeper). If you don't like it call New York, Murray Hill 177642A. Gold Committee."

The course will have a 35-35-70 par and will measure 6,764 yards. That's 47 yards less than Northwood had arranged it. There are only four par three holes. There are 12 par four holes and two par fives.

Hogan played the course as laid out by the USGA Tuesday and did a 73. He was, however, only experimenting and not attempting to shoot a low score. It was his first time to play it as it will be for the open. Saturday, however, Little Ben will be ripping at par with all his might. He doesn't want any more people to beat him than is absolutely necessary.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Indianapolis—Kid Gavilan 150½, Harlan, stopped Fitzke Pruden, 150, Paerson, N. J., 6 (non-title).
Miami, Beach, Fla.—Bank Thurman, 165½, Modesto, Calif., outpointed James J. Parker, 165½, Barry, Canada, 165.

115, the national league record. Once upon a time, way back in 1899, a Cleveland team managed to win only 20 all year. But 1900 usually is the dividing line for modern records.

Help Far Off

Maybe Branch Rickey's youth movement will pay off in the future book. He has no-hit pitchers and 27 strikeout artists in the lower minors. But the collection now performing at Pittsburgh certainly is learning the hard way.

They lost another last night, 5-2 to Cincinnati as the veteran Kenney Raffenberger won his sixth of the season. Bobby Adams and Roy McMillan hit homers to ease Raffy home past Red Munger. Jack Merson homered for the Bucs.

In the upper strata of the league, Jim Hearn pitched the New York Giants to a third straight over Brooklyn 6-2, opening up a 2½ game lead on the Dodgers. It was the last game for Willie Mays, Giants' centerfielder, who reports for army duty today.

Cubs Cop

The Chicago Cubs, once a push-over for Harry Brecheen, chased "The Cat" for the third straight time in beating the St. Louis Cards, 7-2, in the other National league game.

Detroit just won't let Cleveland forget how the Indians knocked them out of the pennant in 1950. Last fall they beat Cleveland out of the flag in late September. And now they're kicking them around again.

Against Cleveland, the Tigers forget their dreary last place record. When Ted Gray beat the tribe last night, 6-2, it was Detroit's fourth win in a row over

Records Set In Big 10 Baseball

CHICAGO — (AP) — At least six Big Ten baseball records were broken and one tied as the regular season ended with Illinois and Michigan co-champions.

Official statistics today credited Harvey Kuenn, junior Wisconsin shortstop, with setting three and matching another while monopolizing conference batting marks.

Kuenn, a 6-1, 185-pounder from Milwaukee who has been consistently scouted by the major leagues, has a record 28 hits for a 15-game schedule. He set a new mark for total bases with 47; fanned only once in 63 times at bat for another record and matched the record in hitting triples with five.

Kuenn also topped the league in hitting doubles with six, runs batted-in with 16 and most runs scored with 16.

Purdue took the team batting crown with .282. Sam Esposito of Indiana stole five bases for another new mark and Bruce Haynam of Michigan hit five sacrifices to get into the record book.

Pitcher Paul Giel of Minnesota had a record low 0.42 earned run average. He was undefeated in five games, yielding only two earned runs and 30 hits in 43 innings.

Illinois' Gerry Smith and Ohio State's Paul Ebert also registered five victories each without defeat. Hal Wallace of Purdue and Frank Howell of Michigan shared the home run lead with three each. Gust Vergetis of Wisconsin drew the most walks, 11, and Don Luft of Indiana struck out the most times, 15.

Team fielding honors went to Michigan with .964.

Cleveland. Pat Mullin's fluke two-run double when he ducked away from a Mike Garcia pitch and sloppy Cleveland fielding broke Garcia's five-game win streak.

Larry Doby broke Gray's shut-out with a two-run homer in the seventh, one of the longest ever seen at Briggs stadium. It passed over the right field wall at the 415-foot mark.

Fireman Paige

Old Satchel Paige strolled in to save Bobby Cain's fourth win at St. Louis as the Browns broke their four-game losing streak in beating Chicago, 3-1. The other American League teams were not scheduled.

Paige came in with two out and men on first and third in the eighth. He got Sam Mele to retire the side and set them down 1-2-3 in the ninth. Dick Kryhoski homered in the eighth off Howie Judson who relieved loser Chuck Stobbs in the seventh.

Giant pitching continued to dominate the Dodgers in the two club national league race with Hearn, knocked out Monday night, coming back with a strong four-hitter. It was the first loss for Billy Loes, 22-year-old rookie who had won five in a row.

The rocketing Giants now have a seven-game win streak. In the three-game series with the Dodgers they amassed 18 hits, including 13 for extra bases. Six were homers, two triples and five doubles.

Mays went hitless in four trips but received a big ovation from the "enemy" crowd in Brooklyn. Even the umpires shook hands with him as he trotted in from the outfield after the final out.

Baseball Briefs

CHICAGO — (AP) — Hal Rice, of the St. Louis Cardinals, may be the answer to Eddie Stanky's outfield problems. In his first two games since coming off the bench, the 28-year-old flycatcher has rapped out six hits in eight at bats, including a trio of singles in yesterday's 7 to 2 loss to the Cubs.

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Roy McMillan's home run blast off Pittsburgh's George Munger in last night's game was the Cincinnati shortstop's fourth of the season — not too far behind the leaders. But in batting, Roy's efforts have been something less than brilliant. 24 hits in 122 trips to the plate for a .197 average.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — For a guy reputed to be in his mid-forties, at least, Satchel Paige is doing right for himself. The Browns' veteran Negro right-hander put to the fire again in last night's 3 to 1 victory over Chicago, hurling third ball for an inning and a third. Paige has allowed only six earned runs in 20 innings pitched for a 2.70 earned run average. His record is three triumphs and one loss.

Gerry Calabrese of the Syracuse Nats in the NBA works for a construction company during the off-season.

Gavilan Easily Defeats Pruden

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — Fitzie Pruden of Toronto, Canada, today had found welterweight champ Kid Gavilan considerably tougher the second time around and Indianapolis promoters had been reminded a fight doesn't draw crowds here on 500-mile race week.

The Indiana Athletic Commission physician stopped the bout after the fifth round. The non-title bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Pruden, who had lost a split decision to Gavilan in Milwaukee 14 months ago, was smeared with blood and tottering. It went into books as a sixth round knockout. A crowd of 7,200 about half filled the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum. They paid a net of $21,220.

Gavilan, who weighed 150½ to Pruden's 150, battered the Canadian mercilessly around the eyes with left jabs, hooks and his Cuban importation, the Bolo punch. A cut above Pruden's left eye spouted most of the blood.

Mulhaupt's Keglers To Compete In ABC

MANISTIQUE — Mulhaupt's keg team, winner of the second half play in the city league and runner up in the city championship tournament, will leave Saturday for Milwaukee to compete in the ABC tournament.

Members of the team are Don Blaney, Tony Jahn, Jerome Norton, Norbert Weber and Harold Krusic. Kenneth Mulhaupt, sponsor now living in Lansing, will meet the team in Milwaukee.

Stanky Sorry For Temper Outburst

CHICAGO — (AP) — Eddie Stanky, apologizing to newsmen for an outburst during yesterday's St. Louis Cardinals-Chicago Cubs game, said he was on edge after leveling a fine against pitcher Harry Brecheen.

Newsmen yesterday had asked the field announcer to query the Cardinals manager on the reason for Stan Musial's removal late in the game.

Stanky reportedly told the scribes to go fly a kite in unprintable language.

After the game, which the Cards lost 7-2, it was learned Musial had injured his knee in a fifth-inning fall in the outfield. He is expected to be back in the lineup tomorrow.

Stanky apologized last night for his comments, blaming it on his "bad disposition and temper." He disclosed that he was "on edge" after meting out his first fine as Card manager.

He said he had leveled "an automatic $50 fine" against Brecheen for allowing Cub Bob Ramazzotti to punt on a pitch-out in the third inning.

Little League Opens 1952 Season With Doubleheader

Escanaba's 1952 version of Little League baseball makes its debut tomorrow afternoon at Royce Park when Rotary plays Lions at 4 o'clock and Kiwanis and St. Joe Boosters follow with a 6:30 night-cap.

Although opening day ceremonies will be postponed until the opening of Escanaba Little League Park, this year's program will feature several innovations used nationally. Games will be switched to twilight play and a collection will be taken at games to help finance the state tournament.

A local angle which will be tried out this year will be the reserve games. Certain games in the schedule will be designated as reserve games and each team will have to use the five players who do not ordinarily break into the starting lineup.

Batteries

Opening on the mound tomorrow for Rotary will be the veteran battery of Bob Anderson and Mike Gregoire. For the Lions it will be either Dave Nordin or Ken Schwalbach tossing to Billy Lindstrom.

Only newcomer Dwayne Cartwright, shortstop figures to break into the veteran Lions lineup, but Rotary coach Lawrence Erickson may have four rookies on his starting roster. Gary Sidbeck and colorful "Mammy" Bordeaux will be at short and third and Fred Anuta and possibly Dick Olson will break into the outfield.

In the night-cap Bob Stropich will be on the hill for Kiwanis with big Frank Katrinis behind the plate. With his ace Bill Snow ailing, Coach Mac McComber may have to look for a starter among Ray Peterson, John Jacobson, or John Sabor. Bob Lancour will handle the catching.

Games Saturday

Starting his first year at the Kiwanis helm, manager John Hagerman was cautious about his team's possibilities: "We'll know more what to expect after we have a couple of games under our belt." McComber's only comment in view of the Friday and Saturday schedule, "Hope it rains."

Saturday the second round of play will get underway at Royce with Lions playing Kiwanis at five-thirty and Rotary playing St. Joe in the second game.

Prep Stars Set For Bear Game Here Tomorrow Against Wallace

GAMES TOMORROW

Wallace at Escanaba
Daggett at Foster City
Felch at Stephenson
Bark River at Perronville
Wilson at Hermansville

High school athletes will stud the Escanaba Bear lineup tomorrow afternoon when the defending Tri County league champions enertain Wallace in a Memorial Day feature.

Manager Jack Beck has listed a half-dozen baseball stars from St. Joe and Escanaba High who will be in action. ## Milwaukee Wins In Battle Of Homers

(By The Associated Press)
In a battle of home runs, league leading Milwaukee shaded Minneapolis 7-6 Wednesday night to jump a half game ahead of Kansas City in the American Association race.

Hank Ertman slammed two homers and Jack Dittmer hammered three doubles and a single to top the Brewers' attack on two Miller pitchers.

Kansas City's game at St. Paul was postponed by cold weather.

Relief pitcher Charley Sipple belted a three-run homer during the Indianapolis Indians' 13-hit attack that buried Toledo 11-5.

Columbus trimmed Louisville 9-5.

Snead Against Field In Open

ST. LOUIS — It's Sam Snead against the field today as the 49th Western Open Golf tournament opens its 72-hole tour at Westwood Country Club.

Professionals, amateurs and gallery alike give the nod to Slammin' Sammy, ranking PGA and Masters champion, in the $15,000, four-day meet. Things get started at 9 a. m. (EST) and roll to a climax Sunday.

Only the low 60s and ties will still be in the running after the 36-hole mark Friday, trimming the starting field of 121.

While Snead, a two-time Western winner, is the No. 1 choice, the touring pros also see eye-to-eye after appraising the 6,616 yards par 70 Westwood course.

It's going to be tough, and best estimate at a winning score is 278. The field includes Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum, Jack Burke Jr., Skeet Riegel, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Ed Furgol and former Western champs Ed (Porky) Oliver, Jimmy Demaret and Johnny Palmer.

College World Series Nearing

NEW YORK—(AP)—Within the next week or so the eight baseball teams, which will compete in the College World Series at Omaha, Neb., June 12-16, will be decided in a far-reaching series of district playoffs involving 22 teams.

Approaching the ideal the college coaches had in mind when they founded the championship tournament six years ago, the end of the regular conference and league races left more contenders than can be handled in one tournament.

Thus only the New England district is likely to name a representative without a playoff and only three other regions were able to whittle the field down to two teams each.

Jack Barry's Holy Cross team, beaten only once in eleven games, is the standout in Region One. If the Crusaders are willing to enter the national tournament, the committee probably won't look any farther.

Playoff action begins tomorrow in the Mid-West and Pacific Coast districts. The two top teams in the Mid America Conference, Western Michigan and Ohio University, will face the Big Ten co-champion, Illinois, and third-place Wisconsin in District 4, first round series at Kalamazoo, Mich., and Champaign, Ill. Single games are scheduled Friday and doubleheaders Saturday. The winners will meet in a similar series next week.

Instead of naming the Pacific Coast Conference champion, District 8 went to a four-team playoff this year, inviting Seattle University and Fresno (Calif.) State. These two clash tomorrow and Saturday while Southern California and Oregon State play off for the big conference title. The winners will play a best-of-three series June 6-7.

Shoot For Record In Memorial Day '500'

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—Motorists and motorcycleists massing outside Indianapolis Motor Speedway gates today killed time debating:

Can anybody match Lee Wallard's record-breaking 1951 speed in Friday's 500-mile Memorial Day auto race?

Old timers who had seen a dozen or so of the past 35 '500's' doubted that Wallard's 126.244 mile-an-hour average will be equaled.

This year's 33-car field averaged about two miles an hour faster than the '51 field in qualifications. But it isn't likely to enjoy the perfect racing conditions of last year.

Perfect Weather

Weather and wrecks can cut the speed far below the cars' potential. Last year the weather was perfect—hot and windless—and the race was slowed only one minute and 10 seconds by a wreck. That was Mauri Rose's upset. He landed in the infield and the track wasn't blocked.

There's also the possibility pointed out by Louis Meyer of Los Angeles, builder of most of the engines in the cars, that the drivers might run out of automobiles before the end of the race. Only eight cars survived last year's speed.

Meyer pointed out that the Meyer-Drake engines were designed only for speeds of about 125 miles an hour. The Speedway changed the rules to permit gearing down for the race but some mechanics chose to keep the engines running at high speed—and hope.

Different Engines

The expected wear and tear on the conventional four-cylinder engines improved the prospects of Alberto Ascari of Milan, the European 1951 champion, and Fredy Agabashian of Albany, Calif.

Ascari will drive a V-12 Italian Ferrari that proved exceptionally durable in Grand Prix competition last year. Agabashian's new Cummins Diesel Special has a modified six-cylinder truck engine.

The diesel was permitted a piston displacement of 401 cubic inches, compared with a limit of 183.06 for supercharged gasoline engines. Unsupercharged conventional engines were permitted 274.59. The concession to the diesel brought a protest yesterday from P. J. Fageol of Kent, O., boat racer and engine builder.

Rate Illinois Favorite In Big Ten Track Meet

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP)—Defending champion Illinois gives every appearance of heading for a repeat performance here Friday and Saturday in the 52nd annual Western Conference track and field championships.

With outstanding strength in the 440 and 880-yard runs, both high and low hurdles, the high jump and the pole vault, the Illinois look like the team to edge the host and No. 1 challenger, Michigan.

Iowa is rated an outside chance.

Illinois athletes have turned in the best times and distances for the season in all six of those events and could add points on lesser performances.

Best 440 Mark

Cyrilo McSweeney, strong Olympic possibility from Panama, was favored in the 440 on the basis of his .481 best performance this season, just nine-tenths of a second off the conference record.

Stacey Siders occupied a like position in the 880, where the record is 1:51.3. Siders' best has been a fine 1:52.1.

Joel McNulty is the hurdles favorite. His 14.2 in the 120-yard lows is the Big Ten's best mark this season in that event and his .23.2 in the 220-yard highs is second only to a .23.1 turned in by Dave Martin of Indiana. The high record is .22.6 and the low .14.

High jumper Ron Mitchell has already bettered the conference standard of six feet, 7 1/4 inches by half an inch and Dick Coleman's best of 14 feet, 5 inches threatens the league mark of 14 feet 10 inches in the pole vault.

Michigan's entry, dotted with Olympic possibilities, emphasized the distances and the weights. Don McEwen, defending mile champion from Ottawa, Ont., will be out to better his own conference record of 4:09 with John Ross, a teammate from Toronto, rated a strong contender. Ross has run a 4:09.4 and McEwen a 4:09.6 this season. Both are regarded as sure bets for the Canadian Olympic team.

Shot Put Ace

Roland Nilsson, already designated as an Olympic competitor for his native Sweden, looked like tops in the shot and discus. His 54 foot, 5 5/8 inch shot put was best this season as was his 169-foot, 1/2 inch discus throw. Michigan State's Bob Carey was regarded as the leading shot contender.

A sizzling 100-yard dash featuring Northwestern's Jim Golliday and Iowa's Ira Murchison was looked for. Both achieved .09.6 clockings this season, two-tenths of a second off the conference mark.

Iowa also will send Rich Ferguson, Canadian Olympic distance possibility, into the mile that boasts eight runners having marks of 4:15 or better.

Every record on the 14-event program was regarded as being in more or less danger with the exception of the 26-foot, 8 1/4-inch broad jump mark set in 1935 by Ohio State's great Jesse Owens.

The big show is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m. Friday with broad jump preliminaries. The actual championships start Saturday at 1:30 p. m. with the pole vault.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—British tennis enthusiasts are more excited about Maureen Connolly, the sensational youngster from San Diego, than they have been about any newcomer to their shores for many a year. They have taken the 17-year-old American champion to their hearts.

One of the finest tributes yet paid to Little Mo comes from Dan Maskell, the veteran Wimbledon professional who has played against all the great women stars, going back to Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills. After an hour across the net from the sturdy coast slugger, Maskell declared:

"Maureen is a teacher's dream girl. She is technically as sound as a bell, as well as being one of the fittest players I have ever seen on the court. She promises to be the best of the bunch."

The London Daily Graphic, which has been running a series of movie strips showing how the wonder girl brings off her various shots, refers to her as the "great ground strokes exponent in the world," and doesn't bother to exclude men from the competition.

The Australians are determined to see Maureen next winter, and it is expected that Harry Hopman, captain of the Aussie Davis Cup team, will complete arrangements for her visit during the coming Wimbledon tournament.

Final figures on what each of the contending nations received from last winter's Davis Cup play in Australia are at hand, and it is not difficult to see why the boys down under sometimes feel they are having their pockets picked. Broken down into dollars for convenience,

they follow:

Net profit from the Sweden-United States interzone final and the United States-Australia challenge round—$105,324.80. America's share after payment of taxes—$32,480; Australia's share—$21,387.04; Sweden's share—$7,840.

A friend in Melbourne writes that Aussie tennis officials seem to feel there is something wrong with these figures. They did all the work and wound up with less clear money than the Americans. He explains, however, that the Australian Tennis association had to pay a whopping "company" tax which the visitors were spared.

The same correspondent, who is close to the Australian tennis scene, insists it still is far from certain that his country's Davis Cup team will compete in our national championships at Forest Hills late in August.

"The president of your association, Russell Kingman, has written soothing letters to our Sir Norman Brooks," he says, "but the idea has not been well received here. So far, all these arrangements have been one-way. When we want any of your chaps out here for the national titles we either have to import them with everything paid or accept the residue of your Davis Cup squad such as Dick Savitt to stage a sit-down strike on the courts or young Ham Richardson. The boys of our association want something more than promises this time before they will come to the party."

American officials do not yet realize that the Australians are pretty sore and that, if unappeased, they are perfectly capable of ordering their Frank Sedgman not to defend his title at Forest Hills.

Green Bay Packers Sign Ex-Wolverine

GREEN BAY, Wis.—(AP)—Carl Kreeger, a 23-year old six foot four inch 225 pound offensive center from the University of Michigan was signed here yesterday to a 1952 professional football contract by the Green Bay Packers.

Kreeger was drafted originally by the Packers in 1951 but took a coaching job at Dexter, Mich., high school for that season.
